Deployable Communications

We provide customers with a tailored suite of capabilities and services in a faster, more reliable manner. Our services are scalable, reliable, and cost-effective, so you can procure, operate, and maintain our deployable communication kits across multiple networks.

Our deployable communications kits are designed to meet warfighter priorities rapidly, including ease-of-use, AF Network integration and disconnected operations—while ensuring compliance with DoD guidance. Kits are designed to leverage existing and emerging deployed communications technologies; entrusting warfighters can always access key information.
